DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6 and 9-23, drawn to a nucleic acid, plasmid, host cell and method of use, classified in class 435, subclass 69.7.
- II. Claims 7 and 8, drawn to a fusion polypeptide, classified in class 530, subclass 350.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are structurally unrelated and distinct as claimed. Inventions I and II are independent and distinct because the different inventions of the nucleic acid and proteins have different chemical structures (carbohydrate versus amino acid) and the nucleic acid is not required to produce the fusion polypeptide, since the fusion polypeptide can be synthesized chemically. The different chemical structures perform different functions and are made by different methods. Further, due to the different chemical structure the searches of the groups are not coextensive.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
